

ALI Imagery of Potential Landslides in Haiti Quake (Jan. 2010)

January 15, 2010
True-Color Image from ALI
Potential Landslides in Haiti Earthquake

The 7.0-magnitude Haiti earthquake that devastated the country on January 12, 2010, also triggered landslides. This true-color image highlights potential new landslides around the earthquake's epicenter, which is near the center of the scene. The landslides are bright streams of exposed earth that contrast with the dark green plants and tan soil around them.

